

Are you concerned about infertility?

"I want to get pregnant, but I can't seem to".

It is important to correctly understand the cause of these concerns.

We recommend consulting with a doctor first in order to better understand the cause.

Examples of causes of female infertility

- Ovulation disorder
- Hormone imbalance
- Endometriosis
- Malformation of uterus

Examples of causes of male infertility

- Blockage of vas deferens
- Retrograde ejaculation
- Spermatogenesis dysfunction
- Congenital malformations

First of all, please contact us for a consultation.

At our clinics, we provide guidance on the timing method, conduct hormone tests and prescribe medicine as necessary.

During your consultation, we will check your basal body temperature chart. If possible, please bring it with you when you visit our clinic.

All general infertility treatments are now covered by health insurance.

Timing method guidance

We will advise you to have sexual intercourse according to the timing of ovulation.

Artificial insemination (AIH)

Semen is injected directly into the uterus using an injector.

※ Please contact our customer language support team for information about available clinics

Please visit us for a consultation!

There is a possibility of infertility if you have not conceived after more than a year of trying. Early diagnosis is recommended in order to investigate the cause.

If it is difficult to conceive with general infertility treatment, we will introduce you to a fertility center within Bell-net.

If you would like to use our free language support service, please scan the QR code on the right and directly contact a member of our team.

This service is provided completely free of charge.

